THE GREAT LESSON.—The first lesson that a young man should learn is that he does not know everything. The earlier and the more thoroughly this is learned the better. A home-bred youth growing up in the light of parental admiration, with everything to foster his vanity and self-esteem, is surprised to find, and oftentimes unwilling to acknowledge, the superiority of others. But he is compelled to learn it until his self-conceit is abashed and he keenly feels that he knows nothing.

When a young man has thoroughly comprehended the fact and that intrinsically he is out of little value, the next lesson is that the world cares nothing about him. He is the subject of no man's overwhelming admiration; neither petted by the one sex nor envied by the other, he has to take care of himself. He will not become noticeable until he does something to prove that he is some use to society. No recommendation will give him this or ought to give him this; he must do something to be recognized as somebody.

The next lesson is that of patience. A man must learn to wait as well as to work, and to be content with those means of advancement in life which he may use with integrity and honor. Patience is one of the most difficult lessons to learn. It is natural for the mind to look for immediate results.

Let this, then, be understood at starting: that the patient conquest of difficulties which rise in the regular and legitimate channels of business and enterprise is not only essential to securing the success which a young man seeks in life, but essential also to the preparation of the mind requisite for the enjoyment of success and for retaining it when gained. It is the general rule in all the world and in all time, that unearned success is a curse.—Jurens.

GOOD SOUPS.—Soups, when properly made, are very wholesome and an almost indispensable appendage to a good dinner. But few cooks know how to make it so wholesome and palatable. To prepare good soup requires more skill and labor than almost any principal dish, and few ever learn, and those who know how, seldom go to the trouble of making it right. In a majority of families—we are safe in saying nine out of every ten—really good soup is never eaten, or soup that is not very indigestible.—They think that to be good it must look very yellow, and made so by half an inch in depth of grease on the top. Now, the truth is, there should be no grease, if possible, about soup. It should be made of lean meat, boiled, or stewed, simmered, for a long time—say half a dozen hours—then strained and boiled again. A little browned flour, prepared as the Germans do their "burnt meal soup," gives it a dark color. Above all things keep away grease from soup commonly known as "fat," if you want the soup to digest in the next six or eight hours.

A knuckle of veal, boiled in a gallon of water down to a jelly, can, when cold, be cut into pieces and used as "stock" for soup for several days, each time adding as much of the stock as will make sufficient soup for the meal. To this vegetables of nearly all kinds, cut up fine, can be used with advantage—say turnips, carrots, tomatoes, also asparagus and peas, with barley, rice, etc. The older the stock gets the better the soup, always providing that it is well boiled, the vegetables thoroughly done, and the whole preserved sound in warm weather.

THE LITTLE FOLKS.—Don't expect too much of them; it has taken forty years to make you what you are with your lessons of experience; and most probably you are a faulty being at best. Above all, don't expect judgment in a child, or patience under trials. Sympathize in their trials or troubles; don't ridicule them. Remember not to measure a child's trials by your standard. "As one whom his mother comforted," says the inspired writer, and beautifully does he convey to us the deep faithful love that ought to be found in every woman's heart. Let the memories of their childhood be as bright as you can make them. Grant them every innocent pleasure in your power.

We have often felt our tempers rise to see how carelessly their plans were thwarted by older persons, when a little trouble on their part would have given the children pleasure, the memory of which would last a lifetime. Lastly, don't think a child homeless, because it belongs to some bad habits. We have known children that seemed to have been born thieves and liars, so early did they display these undesirable habits; yet these same children have become noble men and women.

XYLOTECHNOGRAPHY is the unspeakable application of art claimed to be new, and which upon the authority of the Building News, (London) is capable of producing the most rare, delicate and beautiful effects upon wood. It is employed in decorating furniture, and will probably, if all the statements made in regard to it are reliable, soon make itself known in the rich furniture marts of this and other American cities. It is an elaborate process of staining woods in various colors, the natural grain of the wood showing through with unusual brilliancy, and producing an effect described as being soft, rich and harmonious in the highest degree.—Doors, ceilings and window-sashes are also decorated in this way. The work is finished with French polish, this high gloss being considered the greatest drawback to the process. It is thought, however, that future experiments will point the way to a more artistic finish, and that then there can scarcely be found any fault with the decoration afforded by the new process, except its extraordinary name.

MR. P. T. BARNUM is perfectly happy. For several years he has had his agents in pursuit of a sea lion, and now he writes from his pleasant summer residence at Bridgeport that Capt. Eastman has succeeded in capturing two sealions, a splendid fur seal, and a barking seal, which were shipped from San Francisco on the 1st of July, and will reach New York about the 24th inst. The amphibious creatures will remain there a few days, after which they will be sent to Mr. Barnum's travelling show in New England. This travelling show, since it has been in existence, has been taking about four times as much money as any other travelling exhibition that has ever existed; but yet Mr. Barnum was not happy. The possession of a sea lion was essential to his happiness, and now he has two of them besides the fur seal and the barking seal. His cup is full to overflowing.

DRUGS AND CHEMICALS.

SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR.
The symptoms of Liver Complaint are uneasiness and pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is in the shoulder, and is mistaken for rheumatism. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels are in general constipated, sometimes alternating with laxity. The head is troubled with pain, and dull, heavy sensation, considerable loss of memory, accompanied with painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. Often complaining of weakness, debility and low spirits. Sometimes many of the above symptoms attend the disease, and at the liver with

MEDICAL.

Baltimore Lock Hospital.
DR. JOHNSTON,
Physician of this celebrated institution, has discovered the most Certain, Speedy, Pleasant and Effectual Remedy in the world for all DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE.

Weakness of the Back or Limbs, Stricture, Affection of the Kidneys or Bladder, Involuntary Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Langour, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Trembling, Dimness of Sight, or Gid-diness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin, Affections of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach or Bowels—those terrible Disorders arising from Solitary Habits of Youth—secret and solitary practices more fatal to their victims than the songs of the Syrens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, &c.

YOUNG MEN.
Especially, who have become the Victims of Solitary Vice, and dreadful and destructive habits which annually sweep to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or walked to ecstasy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.
Married persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, aware of Physical Weakness (Loss of Procreative Power—Impotency), Nervous Excitability, Palpitation, Organic Debility, or Nervous Debility, or any other Disqualification, speedily relieved.
He who places himself under the care of Dr. J.
may religiously confide in his honor as a gentle-physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS.
Immediately cured and Full Vigor Restored.
This distressing Affection—which renders life miserable and almost impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgences. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the natural powers are lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent?
Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body
